Low Bid on the New San Miguel School is $317,336

New Business Office for the School District

The Lemon Grove School district has rented a suite of rooms in the upper floor of the Lemon Grove Medical Center for business offices.

The crowded conditions at the school on School Lane necessitate the present business offices being turned into class rooms.

The Superintendent's office and other administrative offices will be moved to the new location next Wednesday.

C. A. Larson was the low bidder on the new San Miguel School, with a bid of $317,336. Awarding of the contract must have the approval of the State Department of Finance, and Supt. Byron L. Netley has been instructed by the Board of Trustees to secure this approval at the earliest possible date so that construction could be started in the near future.

The bids ranged from Larson's low of $117,336 to a high of $384,434. The bids were as follows:

C. A. Larson $317,336
Cotton Construction 331,500
R. J. Horie 332,264
Riba Construction 335,000
F. E. Young 335,611
Heimer Eden 334,554

Warren E. Ruggar and Rex E. Foster, contractors on additions to the Vista La Mesa School, have lost no time in getting work under way on that project. It may be of interest to note that Mr. Foster, one of the partners, is a local contractor residing on Lincoln Avenue in Lemon Grove. Since his children enrolled in the Lemon Grove School he has a two-fold interest in the building program in this district. While this addition will not be completed in time for occupancy in September it will be completed during the next school year.

Hi. Neighbor

by Mae Res Graham

This week marks the end of the school term. That means that over 3000 children will be using the streets of Lemon Grove every day.

Many of these children can be seen playing anywhere, often in unexpected places.

The Highway Patrol urges drivers to drive slower than usual on residential streets, near parks and playgrounds, and wherever children are about.

You never know when a child is playing or walking along the street, when on sudden impulse he may dart to the other side.

He has probably been warned many times by his parents, but children are no different than adults, who often act before they think, too.

No matter if the driver is legally blameless, it will not assuage his grief any if he kills or maims a child.

Children or adults riding bicycles are supposed to ride on the right side of the street. A large percent take the left side, so it always pays to be careful when driving past a cyclist.

Highway fatalities are increasing every day. Drive consistently. You can't get to the head of the procession anyway.

Neighborhood Club Luncheon

The Vista La Mesa Girl Scout Neighborhood Club is holding a luncheon and white elephant sale next Tuesday, 12:30 p.m., at Vista La Mesa Christian Church, Massachusetts at University, to help send a delegate to the national convention at Boston this summer.

This is a pot luck luncheon, with the white elephant sale following immediately afterward.

All Girl Scout mothers and friends in this area are invited to come, and bring something to eat, a white elephant of some kind, and a small donation.

The Scouts in this area have been asked to raise money to help a delegate, and they urge public interest to help do their part in securing the needed funds.

IT'S A GIRL

Mother and daughter came home Tuesday to be greeted by Catherine's three brothers, Glenn 5, Gregory 4 and Ronald 2. Their daddy, a Navy veteran, is taking a music course at State College, majoring in clarinet and saxophone. Classes will be from four to 16 years.

School will open Monday at 9 a.m. at the church, closing at 12 noon. Mrs. Louis Nagy will be the superintendent.

At The Rodeo

Family Expresses Appreciation to Fire Department

A. C. Anderson has resigned as acting chief of the Lemon Grove Fire Department and Raymond W. Carmody has been elected chief of the department.

Mr. Anderson is employed as a fireman at the Consolidated plant and because of pressure of his regular work didn't have the time to devote to the local department.

He has rendered the community a most valuable service both as a commissioner, and recently as acting chief. It will be impossible to repay him for his untiring services. Though he has turned his responsibility over to another, the department has not lost his valuable council. He is still available to the department in an advisory capacity.

Mr. Carmody will devote his full time to the job of chief. The Commissioners feel he is well qualified for the job and will render the community a valuable service.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth King, 7316 Nichols, are singing the praises of the fire department and personnel for the marvelous response and wonderful service performed last Thursday when a fire started in a closet at their residence. The Kings stated that they would never be able to thank the boys and the neighbors enough for their quick action and services in preventing a more serious fire.

The department is indeed happy to have this expression and wish to state the only desire of the firemen and commissioners is to protect life and property and be of service to the community," stated Chairman Mulkay of the Commissioners.

Work Day at Girl Scout Camp

All parents of Girl Scouts are urged to be at the Camp at Lake Cuyamaca either Saturday or Sunday or both days, to help put the camp in condition for the summer.

Work will start at 9 a.m. The families are invited and they must bring their own food. Friends of Scouting who wish to help are also invited.

C of C Hosts to Co. Federation

The Lemon Grove Chamber of Commerce will play host to the San Diego County Development Federation next Tuesday evening when the county group holds its last meeting of the year at Friendship Hall.

Supervisor Bird will be the principal speaker of the evening, talking on the so-called fringe areas tax law and county zoning.

The Chamber of Commerce will present a short program preceding the business meeting consisting of Joan Wilson, impersonations, Jo Purl, singer and Hal Lenox, dancer.

Carol Ann Kregan and Kay Kish, dressed in lemon colored costumes, designed by Mrs. Baxter, will dispense lemonade to the guests. Officers and directors of the Chamber of Commerce will act as official hosts, assisted by ladies of the Business Women's League, which organization is also helping with the arrangements.

Ted Haaf of Lemon Grove is president. The annual election of officers of the Federation will take place at this meeting.

For Business Calls to Fire Station Dial H 6-1459

The fire commissioners request that people calling the fire station for business reasons only please do not call H 6-1459. The station has an extra phone for business calls, H 6-1459.

When H 6-1430 is called it sets off an alarm and alerts all the firemen for a fire call. So calls other than to report a fire should be put through on H 6-1459, and they will not interfere with the duties of the force.

Eleven Guests at League Luncheon

The Business Women's League of Lemon Grove held its bi-monthly meeting and luncheon at Chadwick's in San Diego last Thursday. Eleven guests were introduced including Mrs. Lilian Hapeman of Long Beach, and Mrs. Forrest Baxter's mother, Mrs. N. M. Sharp of Kansas City, Mo. Other guests were Mrs. George E. Neiman, Hogier, Sylvia Me Williams, Jean Smith, E. M. Culver, Anna Bettinson, Lena Johnson, Isaac Cass and Randolph Morse.

A committee headed by Mrs. Al Huebsch was appointed to prepare a float to take part in the Rancho Fiesta Rodeo Parade next Sunday.

It was announced that a member of the Business Women's League, Mrs. Burton C. Snyder, has been appointed by the Chamber of Commerce to supervise a program featuring Lemon Grove at the San Diego County Fair at Del Mar on Thursday, July 5.

The dance pupils of Myra Sonka will participate in the program.

The next business meeting and luncheon will be held at Friendship Hall at 12:30, on June 21.

SCANNING THE WEEK'S NEWS of Main Street and the WorldCost-of-Living Index Stabilized
For First Time Since June, 1950

THAT RISING SPIRAL—The government's predictions that prices would level off as a result of its numerous and sometimes confusing price regulations, seemed to be borne out with the announcement that the cost-of-living index has come to a dead stop.

The bureau of labor statistics put out two sets of figures that indicated the upward spiral had stopped for the first time since the outbreak of the Korean War last June.

As for food prices, the average home town housewife couldn't notice any decline, but according to government figures it was there—all 2 of a per cent of it. At the present time food prices are approximately 11.1 per cent above last June.

The confusing beef picture remained about the same with word from the White House that President Truman was "going to stand firm" behind Price Director Michael V. DiSalle on his order for the rollback.

THE PRICE WE PAY—For the first time since the Korean conflict began on June 25 of last year, the price we are paying for victory was made startling clear to the home town mothers and fathers of the nation.

Testifying before house and senate committees, Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, reported there have been $2,679 nonbattle casualties in Korea, boasting the total of all U.S. casualties in the war to 141,935.

Bradley told the senators there have been 69,276 battle casualties, including 10,660 dead. Of the nonbattle casualties, 612 died of such causes as pneumonia, automobile accidents, etc. Eighty-five per cent of the rest have returned to duty.

Release of these figures confirms rumors long circulated in the nation that casualties have been more than double those officially announced.

TRUMAN AND THE HOME TOWN—It was evident that President Truman had the home towns of the nation on his mind during his recent news conference. At two points he indicated he had been giving them considerable thought.

For one thing, he told newsmen that a third world war would turn American soil into a battle front. He said he believes that the people have enough intelligence and energy to meet any situation. But he indicated he was unwilling to take a chance on seeing how they would react under the destruction another world struggle would bring to the home towns of the nation.

The President would not say whether he will be a candidate again in 1952, but he did indicate another of his famous cross-country tours to tell the home towns his policies was a possibility.

In the 1948 election campaign the President carried his message to the home towns and made hundreds of speeches to small but enthusiastic audiences. His appeal on the local level is credited with his success in that campaign. It seems likely, therefore, that another cross-country swing is but a matter of time.

APPEAL TO MAIN STREET—Governments may argue and pass regulations, but they are ineffective if Main Street doesn't support them. This outstanding trait of democracy was demonstrated again when the house agriculture committee appealed to housewives and consumer representatives to come forward and defend the beef rollback—aimed at cutting the price of beef 8 to 10 cents at butchers' stores by October 1.

Under continued assault from cattlemen, packers and distributors, the committee decided the best counterattack would be from Main Street customers. They wanted to hear from any consumers or consumer groups who think the beef order will benefit them.

Meanwhile the government ordered a cut in the number of cattle that may be slaughtered this month. The quota will be 87 per cent of the weight slaughtered in June, 1950. The purpose is to assure fair distribution of livestock among registered slaughterers and to prevent the rise of black markets.

WHAT CHANCES FOR PEACE?—Ever since the MacArthur incident impressed upon the man on Main Street the awful possibility of years of struggle in Korea, one question has been uppermost in the mind of every American—what are the chances for peace?

At present there are being circulated rumors of peace proposals. These rumors have grown since United Nations troops broke the back of the second Chinese offensive and then plunged northward to kill and capture thousands of Red troops.

But it would be well for the home towner to remember that talk of peace as circulated now are but rumors—nothing more. It would be futile to pin the hope of peace on a rumor and then base it deflated by another Communist attack. Military leaders in Korea report the killing and capture of thousands of Red soldiers, but still warn they are capable of another offensive. It is well to remember that peace can not be made by one party—there must be two.

RED CROSS IN KOREA—The American Red Cross, to which millions of people in the home towns of the nation have contributed their dollars, this month is launching the operations of 28 clubmobiles for the troops in Korea. The clubmobiles, to be staffed by 50 Red Cross girls, were requested by the military because of their adaptability to the quick-shifting Korean war front.

A popular feature of the Red Cross services to the armed forces in World War II, the clubmobiles will provide airmen and ground troops with free coffee and doughnuts, recorded music and stationery.

They will supplement the one large Red Cross club operating at the port of Pusan. At present approximately 360 Red Cross workers and more than 3,000 volunteers are now serving American troops in Asia.

The Senator and the General
Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, told house and senate committees investigating the MacArthur affair that U.S. casualties in Korea were 141,935. (See story above.)

FARM MANPOWER PROBLEM

Reports from many sections of the country continue to show no improvement in the farm manpower problem. Draft boards are still handing out few deferments for agriculture.

Industry is also draining off a great part of the remaining farm manpower, reports indicate.

As a result, the nation is entering a period of mobilization—almost a state of war—with the fewest farm workers in its history.

The labor problem is further complicated by the fact that many workers now available are capable of handling nothing more complicated than a hoe. They are a poor substitute for a hired hand or son who has a life-time of training in agronomy, animal husbandry, and power machinery.

FASHION FLASH . . . Designer Lawrence Gaines watches his creation through a looking glass. Model wears suit in creamy Irish linen. Brown silk taffeta binds the shaped curved collar and cuffs and hand-made button holes. Brown bone buttons complete the contrasting note. The suit skirt is backed with muslin to prevent heat wilting and to give the smoothest wearing lines. This dress is designed to delight a lady's heart and turn a cavalier's head.

BLUSTERY IN HERE . . . A man walks inside of the 16-foot transonic wind tunnel at the national advisory committee for aeronautics, Langley, Va., aeronautical laboratory where research is going on for aircraft and guided missiles at speeds near 13,000 miles per hour, or 17 times the speed of sound. The turning vanes, which are visible at the farthest end of the wind tunnel, are powered by two 30,000 horse power motors.

FIRST KOREAN WAR ACE . . . Capt. James Jabara, Wichita, is given a free ride after becoming first Korean war ace. His fifth and sixth air victories were won by shooting down two enemy MiG-15 fighters near Sinjuju, North Korea. Providing the free ride for the jet pilot are Lt. Rudolph Holley, Augusta, Ga., and Major Edward Fletcher, Cranston, R.I. Holley damaged one enemy fighter in the battle. Fletcher had previously destroyed one and damaged one.

NATION'S HIGHEST AWARD . . . President Truman isdecorating Infantry sergeant John A. Pittman, Tallula, Miss., with the congressional medal of honor—the nation's highest award for valor—in a ceremony at the white house. Sergeant Pittman won the honor by smothering an enemy grenade with his body to save the lives of his comrades while leading an attack in Korea. He was one of the three Korean veterans presented with the coveted medal by Mr. Truman.

MacArthur Flouts Orders

THIS Senate's ruling that satirists in the MacArthur hearings will not have to testify regarding confidential conversations presumably will hold for confidential conversations between Gen. Omar Bradley and the other members of the joint chiefs of staff.

However, some of their private reactions during the MacArthur discussions are significant. Inside fact is that the joint chiefs were extremely nervous about the idea of ousting MacArthur and took care to avoid the word "recommend" in reporting to the White House that MacArthur be fired.

Instead, and after considerable private debate, they decided to use the words "militarily advisable." Therefore, a report that it was "militarily advisable" to relieve MacArthur was signed by all four of the joint chiefs.

Despite this compromise wording there was no question among the joint chiefs that MacArthur should go. There were three general reasons for this view, and it is interesting that none of them really agreed with Truman's reasons—namely, MacArthur's flouting of orders by discussing foreign policy.

Reason No. 1 was the fact that the joint chiefs considered MacArthur too rash as a military commander and likely to let American forces in for more trouble.

Tying MacArthur's Hands

That was why they actually tied his hands with the military directive regarding the bombing of Chinese bases. They decided that he could bomb Chinese bases if—and there were two very big if's—1. The Communists threw in enough air power to jeopardize our ground troops; or 2. If the Chinese attacked any U.S. ships or installations outside Korea.

But MacArthur was given a further directive that before he could do any bombing in either of the above categories he must first consult the joint chiefs. In other words, what might provoke MacArthur into bombing Manchuria might not be enough to provoke the joint chiefs. They didn't trust his judgment, were afraid he would interpret these conditions far more liberally than they.

Reason No. 2 was the fact that MacArthur was not one to take suggestions or guidance from the joint chiefs. While it is J.C.S. policy not to dictate to the commander in the field, they do reserve the right to give general guidance and make suggestions.

And they were quite provoked during MacArthur's November advance into North Korea that he ignored their warning that there was no battle communication between General Walker's 8th army and General Almond's 10th corps. When the joint chiefs warned MacArthur about this, he replied, rather coldly, that there was sufficient liaison.

However, the joint chiefs, still not satisfied, asked MacArthur a second time why General Almond and his 10th corps were operating independently of the 8th army, leaving a big gap between the two forces. MacArthur replied, convincingly, that General Almond and his 10th corps were drawing Chinese pressure away from the 8th army.

Later, when the Chinese struck, they picked the hole that had worried the joint chiefs, and smashed right into the vacuum between the 10th corps and the 8th army.

Reason No. 3 however, what finally got the joint chiefs really sore at MacArthur was the way his statement about using Chiang Kai-Shek's troops in Korea killed the overall military training bill.

For months the joint chiefs had set their hearts on passing universal military training for the first time in the history of the nation. But two days after MacArthur's statement urging that we use Chiang's Formosan troops, the U.M.T. bill was dead. MacArthur had killed it. For congress was under immediate fire from the voters to use Chinese troops instead of the universal military training bill.

A lot has been published about the failure of our United Nations friends to support us in Korea, but not much about certain unexpected support.

Italy, for instance, is not a member of the U.N., but has asked for permission to send units to Korea. So far nothing definite has been worked out.

Unoriginality in Names

Among other things, he branded Drew Pearson a "warmonger." There's nothing like being called a "warmonger" by the editor of Pravda, and on S.O.B. by President Truman. It's about time somebody caught up some new names.

$1,035,652,300 Budget passed Governor, is effective immediately by Senate. This is an increase atay, and it will be possible for over the budget originally asked such areas as the Rainbow District to obtain a more nearly adequate supply of water during the hot summer.

Earl Warren, Governor, has given approval by the California State Legislature. In its final form workers would be allowed time off for voting with pay, only if they notified their employer in advance or if they do not have two hours free time of their own before or after work.

Despite the heat, the forthcoming summer, and cry that the Time Off For Voting Bill has been given approval by the California State Legislature. It is administration estimate by $25,000 to $30,000 the bus- get came out of the Senate very much the way the Governor wanted it. The Senate sliced to go to the polls. It has been sent to the Governor for signature.

The Board of Equalization, $515,000 from the State Highway Patrol. Then added $12,000,000 for Civilian Defense, $15,000,000 for inflated building costs and $4,000,000 for other miscellaneous improvements. $7,813,000 of the Civilian Defense fund was frozen and subject to federal government putting up matching money. Also frozen into the budget was a total of $36,640,000 in capital outlay money for major construction which will go into a special fund but the projects will not be built at the present time. The action included $1,030,285 for resident halls at San Diego State College and would eliminate, for the present $500,000 for a State National Guard Armory at San Diego. The budget will have to come back to the Assembly where some items will probably be changed but it should reach the Governor's desk this week.

Water Survey money approved by the Senate Committee providing $500,000 to make a preliminary survey of the Feather River Project which would run from northern California through San Diego County to the Mexican border and designed as a water conservation and flood control measure. The bill now goes to the Senate Finance Committee.

Rainbow District, by joining Fallbrook Public Utility District, may now obtain water through the San Diego Water Authority's main transmission line that traverses the Rainbow District and a meter and valve have already been connected from the main transmission line of the Water Authority to the Rainbow District transmission line. This act was designed to eliminate the legal prohibitions of the present act against the inclusion of territory of one public utility district to another public utility district. The measure carried an urgency clause, therefore, if signed by the Senate Finance Committee and is ready for floor action.

Municipal Court Districts for San Diego County, as recommended by the Board of Supervisors now on third reading file in the Assembly, creates three districts. One district composed of Oceanview Township with the court in Oceanview. A second composed of El Cajon Township with court sessions to be held in both La Mesa and El Cajon. A third composed of National Township excluding the cities of National City and Coronado with the court located in Chula Vista.

Plan Fixit Day to Save Water

Fixit Day will be set soon by the Save Our Water Committee, it has been announced by M. J. Sheldon, committee chairman. The goal, he said, is to get all faucet and other water leaks to the county repaired.

Water leaks alone, Sheldon said, are responsible for uncounted thousands of gallons of water lost every day. Most of these leaks can be easily repaired. Let's see how:

The "blow, bleep" of dripping faucets can be heard in one of 15 San Diego homes, plumbing authority estimate. If your faucet has "leaks," chances are a worn out or damaged faucet washer is the cause. Repair is usually simple. All faucets are built so that washers may be easily replaced, according to the Associated Plumbing Contractors of San Diego, whose experts list these easy steps to stop that leak:

Shut off water supply under sink or lavatory. If no shut-off there, you will have to close main valve where water enters the house.

With a wrench padded with cloth to protect chrome or nickel plating, unscrew faucet stem until it lifts out of a hole.

Using screw driver that fits screw slot closely, remove screw from bottom of stem and pry out worn washer. If screw is stubborn, tap lightly.

Clean out washer compartment and insert new washer of correct size and composition for hot or cold water. There is a difference in washers; cheap washers give trouble in the hot water faucet because they swell. The new, soft neoprene washers are recommended for both hot and cold water and have a long life.

The washer should fit snugly, but should not be forced. Replace screw and tighten.

With cloth over finger, clean valve seat inside the faucet. Edges should be smooth and free from deep nicks. If it is badly worn, a new washer will not cure the trouble for long. Either have the brass valve seat resurfaced, renew the seat, or replace the faucet.

Replace the faucet stem and screw into place, then tighten the packing nut, but not more than necessary to stop seepage around the stem. Turn water on.

Use care with faucets. Don't give the handle a hard twist to shut off the water. This wears out washers and may damage the seat. If washer is of good quality and properly fitted, ordinary pressure of fingers on faucet handle should do the trick.

Tattoo Good Way of Identification

By A. S. KUELPER

It is sound management to keep records of breeding rabbits and the litters. Hutch records should be kept in duplicate to record the date of breeding, date of kidding, number in litter, number weaned and date of weaning.

Financial records should be kept separately—that is records of all receipts and operating expenses. If accurate records are not kept, it is difficult to tell whether or not profits have been realized.

In order to keep records it is necessary to identify breeding rabbits by giving each a number. Tatting the numbers in the ears is satisfactory and will not disfigure animals when properly done.

Rabbits should be handled as little as possible, yet it is advisable occasionally to stroke or pat the head on young rabbits which are kept for breeders as it helps to accustom them to being handled. They should never be lifted by the ears or legs because handling in this manner may cause injury.

Fryer rabbits or small rabbits may be lifted and carried by grasping the loin region gently, yet firmly, with the heel of the hand toward the tail of the animal. Avoid bruising the flesh or damaging the skin.

Medium-weight rabbits may be lifted and carried by grasping with the right hand the loose skin over the shoulders, with back of the rabbit toward the carrier. Place the left hand under the hind quarters so that most of the weight will be supported from beneath.

Heavy rabbits may be carried and prevented from struggling by grasping the fold of skin over the shoulders with the right hand, then lifting and holding the rabbit against the left side of the carrier with the animal's head under the left arm.

CLEM WHITAKER, Jr.

The Government plans higher taxes for the defense program. As between a higher income tax deducted from the pay envelope, or a sales tax paid on most things people buy, which would you prefer?

That's the question interviewers for the Psychological Corporation have asked Americans of every walk of life throughout the Nation. The survey was conducted by some 324 interviewers under the direction of trained psychologists.

In questioning people, the Corporation reports it deliberately omitted mention of higher corporation taxes as its purpose "was primarily to determine the form in which the public preferred to pay higher taxes for the defense program." The Corporation did not specify, either, the items which would be subject to the sales tax under discussion.

It was found, however, that if taxes are bound to go up, the public prefers some manner of sales tax over a higher income tax, "but only by a small margin."

The actual results are as follows:

46% preferred the sales tax
40% preferred the higher income tax

14% expressed no opinion.

Elaborating on the figures, the Psychological Corporation states Federal officials gave conflicting estimates of that figure varied by as much as 60 billion dollars toward the sales tax as were the higher income groups.

The official explanation for

"In the upper income groups 50 such extraordinary variance is percent favored the sales tax and that the different government in the lower income groups it agencies keep their books in dif-

was 44 percent."

Commenting further, the Corporation said:

"One might think that women would be more averse to the sales tax than men, since it is the women who do most of the shopping and are already conscious of high prices. However, 47 percent of the women favored the sales tax as compared with 46 percent of the men."

With higher taxes in prospect, and with people in every bracket highly tax conscious, the report from the Psychological Corporation, observers state, is highly significant in that it has long been maintained that the most undesirable of all taxes among the people who know taxes best—the taxpayers—was the sales tax.

It has been maintained, also, that the lower income groups were much more opposed to sales taxes than the higher income groups, so the results of the study of the Psychological Corporation, it is reported, come as somewhat of a surprise to a number of tax experts.

The one point not covered by the survey, perhaps a very important point, is what would be subject to the proposed sales tax. That breakdown, and the answers thereto, could prove as interesting as the facts already revealed.

Some years ago, California was a colony of Spain, just as Alaska once belonged to Russia, Louisiana to France, and the six New England States to Great Britain.

According to Walter Trohan, Washington correspondent for the Chicago Tribune Press Service, Uncle Sam has been so busily engaged in global give-aways over the past decade that our total foreign outlay during that period has been the equivalent of returning those rather valuable pieces of real estate to their original owners.

Not that it is simple matter for anyone to determine just exactly what the total figure for foreign aid has been. Recently

Especially if he had just graduated from college before he dozed off, his amazement would be of size proportions.

It's not just that the teeter-totter has replaced the rumble seat as a college hobby. The big change is that the college graduate can get a job.

And what a job he can get, particularly if he has majored in technical courses! Engineering jobs at more than $300 per month, plus overtime, are going begging.

According to the University of California Bureau of Occupations, nearly all of U.C.'s June crop of engineering graduates already have jobs. The ones who haven't just haven't been able to choose yet among the many offers.

It's a far, far cry from the 30's, when a sheepskin was little more than a referral to the WPA.

Stanford University's Placement Bureau has placed one graduate in an $800-a-year engineering job, and has lined up a senior student for a $6300-a-year job.

gerial experience are in big demand, too. Accounting by teaching our school children to compare the Soviet way with the benefits enjoyed under Americanism.

President of the United States wrested—that's good enough for me."

Non-technical jobs although not so abundant as technical jobs, are plentiful enough to make a Depression-bred youth swoon with delight. Merchandising, for instance, pays a minimum of $225 for beginners, which even at today's devaluated dollar, buys a good deal more than the hard-to-find, harder-to-hold $80 per month job of 20 years ago.

Uncertainty as to draft status, of course, has been a tough hurdle for some job-hunters. But the newest word seems to be that local draft boards will likely defer to most students and technical graduates, particularly those in the higher IQ brackets. There is a slight hook here, however, for new legislation is expected to provide that youths granted draft deferments will be liable for military service until age 35, instead of 26. But for the college man who has his draft status ironed out, there's a job awaiting.

And according to a nationwide college survey conducted by the Northwestern National Life Insurance Company, there are jobs galore for coeds, too. Industry is hiring women college graduates for many jobs formerly reserved for men. Equal pay for equal work may soon be a reality, without benefit of coercive legislation, and women thus spared, for once and for all, the age-old shame of being supported by the male sex.

That change our modern Rip Van Winkle might find the most startling of all, as, savoring the possibilities of the new emancipation of men, he decided he was very glad to be awake.

WHAT HAVE WE TO LOSE

There's nothing wrong with the world that a little nudity couldn't cure. At least, that's the theory of Shivan Chida Nand Gir, leader of India's Naga cult. The Holy Man's recent proposal that President Truman and Prime Minister Stalin meet in the nude for peace talks has aroused considerable discussion at the Holy Man's convention at New Delhi (and some in our barber shop, as well).

Girl's idea, backed by his 22 years of nude experience, was based on the reasoning that such a meeting would show that each had nothing to hide—thus generating an atmosphere of good will.

So many other schemes for achieving world peace having proved fruitless, why not give the Naga cult's contribution a whirl? This country, certainly, would have nothing to lose except H. S. T.'s title of "World's Best Dressed Man of 1951."

THE TIME HAS COME

In this era of greater claim for greater government control of everything, the following, printed in a Minnesota newspaper, seems appropriate:

The story of the creation of the world is told in Genesis in 400 words. The world's greatest moral code, the Ten Commandments, contains only 297 words. Lincoln's Gettysburg Address is but 266 words in length. The Declaration of Independence required only 1,321 words to set up a new concept of freedom. But the Office of Price Admission uses 2,500 words to announce a reduction in the price of cabbage seed."

The children in Mr. Helms' fourth grade recently had an opportunity to visit Mission San Diego de Alcala and Juniper Serra Museum. This gave them an opportunity to view much that they had previously learned about the "Mother Mission" in their study of California history.

The guides who conducted the tour told many interesting stories which helped the class better understand the part the Padres played in the settlement of this State. The children thus gained an appreciation of their work and their heroic sacrifices.

Sports Scene

By ROGER CONLEE

Certainly the biggest event in the way of sports that has hit Lemon Grove in quite some time is this Sunday's Fiesta at St. John of the Cross. About 100 riders have entered the rodeo and parade. Many expert horsemen, mounted on handsome quadrupeds will perform. It certainly will be a worthwhile event. Talent from all over the southland will be in the show, as well as many riders from right here in Lemon Grove.

Spending the day at the West Coast Rifle Club is quite an experience. The club, with range located near Grantsville, in Mission Valley, has membership of many long-time shooters from the southwest, as well as many young new-comers.

Matches are on Sundays and Wednesday nights. The night matches are the easiest to compete in, most shooters agree. At night there is little wind, at least considerably less than at day, and there is no glare or heat from the sun. The matches begin at 7:45 p.m. and end soon after 9. There are two target boys who keep targets in readiness at all times for the shooters.

Although 22 calibre rifles are shot at these meets, they are not the same type of simple 22 known to hunters and sportsmen. These guns are precision instruments which are equipped with special stock, barrel, and perfected telescopic sights. They fire commercial ammunition which is especially manufactured for target shooting.

The City Chevrolet Post 753, of the San Diego American Legion baseball league squad has already begun its season. The Post, which represents the Foot Hill area, plays each Saturday and Sunday. So far, they have won only one of their five games, but with improved fielding it is hoped their fortunes will turn for the better very shortly.

Irrigated Pasture Pointers

"Selection of the proper plants for your irrigated pasture seedings is among your first considerations," says Farm Advisor Fred W. Dorman of the University of California Agricultural Extension Service. However, the soil, its type, depth and salt content, climatic conditions and type of livestock all need to be taken into account.

Much has been learned about the adaptability, palatability and growth habits and season of various species. Work here at the station and observations in the field seem to indicate that simple seeding mixtures are more desirable.

Bloat hazard attendant on grazing cattle or sheep in irrigated pastures can be reduced by using a grass-legume proportion of but 40 to 50 percent legumes.

In many instances, however, sheep are grazed on straight legume pastures. Horses utilize coarse, stemmy grasses to better advantage so 10 to 20 percent

Wynn Wit

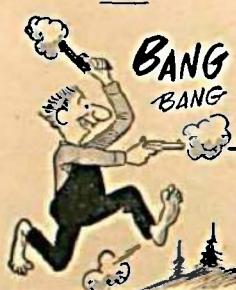

"MANHATTAN MARY" was the name in which Ed Wynn played a wailer (One Minstrel was Mary) and told a patron who ordered caviar, "Here's some tapeworm pudding and a pair of smoked glasses." Somebody else grumbled, "I don't like all the flies in here."

"Point out the ones you don't like," suggested Wynn, "and I'll eat them."

A third customer demanded lamb chops au gratin. Wynn shouted to the kitchen, "Cheese it, the chops."

WEAK SUBJECT

I heard of the man who brought his grown son in to a mountain schoolhouse.

"This here boy needs a little larnin'," he announced. "What can you learn 'im?"

"Well," the teacher replied, "I teach arithmetic, algebra, history, English, geography and trigonometry."

"Hold on, what was that last thing you said?" the man asked.

"Trigonometry."

"That's it, that's it," he said, "larn 'im that. He's the only pore shot in the family!"

A Difference
Overheard at a milliner's: A wife asking her husband, "Isn't it just too sweet, dear?" and the husband replying, "No—it's just too dear, sweet."

FUTILE FABLES

Somewhere between the office and the restaurant where he was to meet his wife for lunch, little Mr. Morton ducked into a door for a quick one—and also to put a few bucks on the nose of a nag.

But all was not well. "Male" Swedge, the bartender who was as big as a plow puller and just about as smart, had tears in his eyes. And he shoved Mr. Morton's money back at him and quavered: "No more big talk here, guy. I ain't one of dem Princeton guys gain' to de old Elmer Mudder up by Lake Kyooka or somewhere. I can't stand dese doopey names de niggas, what don't want to see nobody make a honest livin', hangs on dere race horses. Look at this list!"

Mr. Morton looked and saw Halcyon Days, Richelleau, Bimblech and Urbaniute, and Hescheintz and Persama, and some more; and Mule said: "Dey grys dat call up here and want to bet can't purrnuwe 'em, needer, and I git all balled up an put dere dough on de wrong nag, and."

Mule just couldn't go on. He put his big head, bone and all, down on the bar and wept.

NATCH!
When Engineer Casey pulled to a stop at the bottom of Alta Mount hill he was handed up a message signed by the division superintendent. It read:

"Explain delay of your train on Alta Mount hill this date."

Casey replied, "Slipping, no sand."

"What were you doing on Alta Mount hill without sand?" demanded the "super" in his next wire.

"SLIPPIN'-G," replied Casey.

VIRGIL

By Len Kleis

By long established custom, the Korean bridegroom stays with his bride three days in his father-in-law's house before returning with her to his own parents' house. Official manhood begins for the Korean only after marriage. Even if he is 70, a bachelor's opinion has little influence.

The Koreans' traditional habit of wearing many and varied hats is said to have had its origin as a measure against plotting. An ancient ruler, the legend goes, once concluded that men could not espouse if they could not put their heads together. Hence he required his subjects to wear such huge hats that whispered conversations could not be carried on.

More than 20 million of them have discovered about FEEN-A-MINT, the modern chewing-gum laxative. You have to try FEEN-A-MINT's action to be wonderful.

Doctors say that many other laxatives start their "pushing" action too soon ... right in the stomach where food is being digested. FEEN-A-MINT acts later, but longer, stimulating the colon to move on its own. It's good for constipation, flatulence, diarrhea, colitis, etc.

Don't neglect your kidneys, those often forgotten organs that help remove wastes from the body. Used successfully by millions for over 30 years. While often otherwise quiet, FEEN-A-MINT is a quiet, gentle, happy gift from these physicians—Help the 12 miles of Sidney rutins and Miles Bush out waste. Get DOAN'S PILLS today!

Drivers Should Curb Speed

Responsibility for reducing California's terrible traffic toll rests squarely on every driver, Commissioner Clifford E. Peterson of the California Highway Patrol said today. He pointed out that the vast majority of motorists are law-abiding, decent citizens, but lapses at the wheel inevitably add to the carnage on the highways.

Investigation of tens of thousands of accidents indicate one or more violations of the vehicle code, poor judgment or even total disregard for the rights of others, he declared.

"Speed too fast, for existing conditions is by far the chief cause of fatal and serious accidents. Not only is excessive speed a traffic law violation, it is a sin, for project work, Mrs. Edgar Alice will lead the discussion on Disciples' missionary
